

Stella D' Oro Hotel
Padua, May 16, 1869

Professor A. Gray, of Harvard University, U. S.
America, presents his compliments to Mr. -
the Assistant Professor of Botany at Padua,
and wishes to know, if about Friday or Saturday next, he could consult the Herbarium of Boze,

now, he is told, at Padua.
He wishes to find the originals of some species originally described by Bosc, - especially of Traximus.

He asks if the herbarium of Bosc is separately preserved, or is mixed with that of Prof. Moritz.

Prof. Gray and his party are disappointed in not being able to gain access to the Chapel containing the celebrated frescoes of Giotto. Could

he learn, beforehand,
whether they could be seen upon returning to Padua,
near the close of the present week?

Could Prof. Gray ask the great favor of a line, in response, addressed to him, to the care of the bankers,
M. Schielin & Co., at Venice? — for which he would be very grateful.

Prof. Gray much regrets that he will not be able to see Prof. Viviani, whom he met here 30 years ago,

A.G.
