Questo codice fu studiato da Giuseppe Sterzi nell'opera:

Giulio Caversi anatomico e chirurgo (c. 1552-1616). Ricerche storiche del dott. Giuseppe Sterzi. Venezia, Istituto veneto di arti grafiche, 1909, in 8°, pp. 168 c. ritr.° del Caversi e un facs. della sua scrittura.

Esstr. dal Nuovo Archivio Veneto, N. S., vol. XVIII, par. 2ª

Il facsimile è tratto da questo codice stesso (tav. 35 della numerazione moderna), le cui Explicationes, come lo Sterzi dimostra, sono opera e scrittura autografa del Caversi. Non trovo invece citata nell'opera dello Sterzi la dedica autografa del Caversi alla nazione Germanica di un es. del suo libro de vocis auditusque organis conservato oggi nell'Istituto di Farmacologia.

Vitam hanc in humano corde meam, quem rationibus alias dicendis esse necessario periculum primi omnium publice proposuimus et sustinimus, Ampliss^{is} Senatores, inclyto nomini vestro consecramus. idq; non alio consilio, quam ut splendorem huic nostro inuento mutuemur et tutelam. Sicut insignia principum adibus appendimus contra vim aut perfidiam, sic magnum hic nomen vestrum contra calumniam aut luorem. Patiamini igitur obsecro hoc meum ingenij monumentum vestri nominis claritate et auctoritate defendi honestari illustrari.
